Strategic Response to Crisis

April 14-15, 2015 8:30AM-5:00PM

Instructor: B. Anne Balboni

Psy.D., EMT I/C

Knowing what sequence of crisis intervention processes to use for which individuals or groups, at what times, and under what circumstances is crucial to all effective early intervention programs. The course will present essential information for the assessment of both crisis situations and the effects of critical incidents on people involved in those situations. Learn to create an effective plan of action to assist those in crisis and complete a series of exercises designed to sharpen assessment and crisis planning skills. Strategic planning and tactical decision making are emphasized, as are rationales for choosing one set of crisis intervention processes over another.

This course requires previous training and experience. ICISF's "Group Crisis Intervention" and "Individual Crisis Intervention and Peer Support" should be viewed as pre-requisites.

B. Anne Balboni, Psy.D. is the state coordinator & clinical director of the state wide Rhode Island Critical Incident Stress Management TEAM, Inc. and has presented on crisis intervention topics internationally.

ACCOMODATIONS

A block of rooms is being held at the Cape Codder Resort at a discounted rate of $109 until 3/21/15. To reserve online: Go to 'online reservations' at www.capecodderresort.com and use the online booking code: CICT0415 or call toll-free 1-888-297-2200 and identify yourself as part of the Cape & Islands Critical Incident Support Team group.

Line of Duty Death: Preparing the Best for the Worst

April 14-15, 2015 8:30AM-5:00PM

Instructor: Paul Antonellis, MA,
Ed.D. (ABD)

One of the toughest situations to face is the line of duty death. The administrative and logistical aspects of a LODD are often overwhelming to those individuals and agencies that are ill prepared. This course will address many of those issues as well as give special attention to pre-incident planning and proper follow-up services. This interactive class has been designed to prepare Emergency Service providers, military personnel, school administrators, municipal officials as well as CISM teams who may need to address a Line of Duty Death.

Paul Antonellis, MA, Ed.D. (ABD) has over 20 years of fire/EMS experience holding various positions including Chief of Department. In addition, Paul has 11 years of law enforcement experience. Antonellis is an Associate Professor of Management at Merrimack College, Girard School of Business and has authored and published more than 25 articles and 3 books. Paul is also the co-author of the Line of Duty Death course.

From Battlefield to Street: One Uniform to Another

April 14-15, 2015 8:30AM-5:00PM

Instructors: Lt. Tom Greenhalgh
Hayden A. Duggan, Ed.D.

Public safety personnel who also have dual roles in the military are facing new challenges today. Military life and deployments often can leave the first responder/combat veteran with traumatic experiences that get "triggered" when they return to serve in their public safety roles. The young child struck by a car, entering a burning building or the need to draw a service weapon can instantly transport our rescuer mentally back to the battlefield. These instances can be anticipated and dealt with but would you know what to do? How do you apply your CISM skills to the combat veteran?

This course is intended for CISM team peers, clinicians, chaplains, military personnel and anyone else who may be asked to work with public safety personnel who are also in the military such as veteran's outreach staff. Lt. Greenhalgh has been involved in the Public Safety field for more than 26 years. Currently, he is employed as a Police Lt/Paramedic and has previously worked as a Firefighter/Paramedic. Tom is the co-director for the Greater Lowell CISM Team, an ICISF approved instructor in many disciplines and co-author, with Hayden A. Duggan, of the Battlefield class.

Hayden A. Duggan, Ed.D. is the President and co-founder of the On-Site Academy in Gardner, Mass, a residential trauma treatment and training program for Public Safety personnel. Hayden is the Team clinician for several CISM teams.
